Here is our prayer for the week. I invite you to contemplate it daily:

“Refuse to tolerate anything less than harmony. You can have a happy and joyous life. But to do so you must seize the rudder of your own destiny and steer boldly for the port that you intend to make.” - Emmet Fox

Know with me that there is one Divine Intelligence that is the Source of all life and substance. Only good comes from this One Cause. This is the true author of my life.

I unify with this, my only true Source, as I am created in its image and likeness.

With the realization that I am never working alone, I set my intention in the direction of my dreams, knowing that anything is possible in the manifestation of my happy and joyous life.

As I seize the direction of my life, I walk in quiet confidence with a sense of connection, knowing just what to say and to whom.

I negate any power of doubt that may come over me knowing that I can turn to my inner Guidance, speaking words of wisdom.” Let it be”.

I am so grateful for my fulfilling life. I claim my authority to speak my word into immutable Law,

And so it is!
