Here is our prayer for the week. I invite you to contemplate it daily:

Our quote for the day is from The Basic Ideas of Science of Mind by Ernest Holmes.

“Take time to think about what most fully represents a happy and joyous life. Life that is so full of the sheer joy of living that it cannot b

There is only one God. One Spirit that is the energy that expresses through all there is and all there ever will be.

I know this Spirit is my source. This all knowing, all powerful Spirit is everywhere. It is right here guiding and protecting me always. I am an expression of this Presence that guides me with infinite wisdom as I move through my day.

I declare as I let go of my fears of the past and any fear that may stand in the way of expressing my Truth, I emerge an agent of Peace.

I am grateful for knowing the Truth of my being, for all of the good manifesting in my life so abundantly. I give thanks for being able to see the presence of God everywhere I look.

As I release my word into Law, I know all is well and it is already done. And so it is.
